Lecture and Webinar Series presents

ETHICS IN CRISIS

OBSERVATIONS FROM THE FRONTLINES OF COVID-19

with

New York Times Medical Correspondent

DR. SHERI FINK

JUNE 10, 2020

2:00 PM EDT / 11:00 AM PDT

Throughout the pandemic, government leaders, health care professionals, and communities around the globe have confronted extraordinary resource allocation questions as the number of critically ill patients grew daily amidst severe shortages of equipment, supplies, staffing and hospital beds. In this webinar, Dr. Sheri Fink, Pulitzer Prize winning author of Five Days at Memorial: Life and Death in a Storm-Ravaged Hospital, will answer questions about her recent experiences as a New York Times medical correspondent in hospitals during the COVID-19 response and discuss ethical dilemmas facing leaders during the crisis.
