Non-competitive

The Roundtables to Resilience series is a part of the City of Boston Office of Emergency Management's Regional Catastrophic Preparedness Grant Program.

Contact us at: BostonRCGP@boston.gov

Objectives:

The Roundtables aim to bring together emergency management professionals from around the country to hear from subject matter experts on a variety of timely issues, share experiences, and discuss best practices.

Method:

The series has brought together practitioners and planners alike to share real-world experiences and research. The Roundtables have facilitated open discussion in a virtual forum that can be replicated across the field.

Conclusion:

The Roundtables facilitate networking and collaboration, acting as a bridge for interdisciplinary work and bringing topics to non-EM professionals. We plan to continue to grow this network through trust and open communication.

Where past attendees are from:

Previous Topics:

- Disaster and Evictions
- HUD's Role and Resources
- Alternate Housing Solutions
- Rebuilding Post-Wildfire
- Disaster Housing Challenges
- Housing Lessons Learned
- Houselessness

Tips to start your own speaker series:

- Identify topic areas to fill a gap
- Build a contact list of potential attendees
- Secure subject matter experts to present
- Find a platform that works for you (i.e., virtual, in-person, etc.)
- Hold a kickoff meeting to gather input from attendees on desired topics
