Tanya Mullally

Tanya Mullally is the Provincial Emergency Management Coordinator for the Province of PEI.

Her career in emergency management spans over two decades with 12 years as a volunteer firefighter, seven years as a RCMP Auxiliary member and seven years as a volunteer Ground Search and Rescue member.

On the professional side she worked for four years with the Canadian Red Cross, PEI Region as the Disaster Services Manager then in 2009 she joined the Province of PEI in her current role. She recently completed her Emergency Management Diploma through NAIT, is a Certified Business Continuity Manager, and is currently working on a Collaborative Leadership and Facilitation Certificate through the University of Prince Edward Island.

Tanya lives in PEI, Canada's smallest province, in a rural community outside the provincial capital with her two teenage sons (16/17) and two Saint Bernards. Interestingly the dogs collectively weigh more than the two boys do!
