

Lee Laverdure

Lee Laverdure is a Senior Emergency Response and Health & Safety Coordinator at an oil and gas company with offices in Canada and the United States. Lee has been in the oil and gas industry since 1998 starting with 10 years at the Alberta Energy Regulator, a regulatory agency for Alberta's oil and gas industry and specifically with 11 years of experience in health & safety and emergency management.

Lee has a master's degree from Royal Roads University in Disaster and Emergency Management. Lee will be applying for the Canadian Registered Safety Professional designation as well as the CEM designation in 2016. Lee currently chairs the Canadian Association of Petroleum Producers (CAPP) Emergency Management Steering Committee.